Peter Ferris Named President of Charter Medical, Ltd., a Subsidiary of Lydall, Inc.

MANCHESTER, CT - November 30, 2006 - Lydall, Inc. (LDL:NYSE) today announced that Peter Ferris has been named President of Charter Medical, Ltd., its wholly owned subsidiary located in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Ferris comes to Lydall with over 20 years of business experience. Most recently he was Vice President of Strategic Marketing for Tyco International, Ltd. While at Tyco, he held senior positions in Global Marketing at Tyco's undersea fiber optics business as well as leadership positions in Corporate Marketing at Tyco International's corporate office in New York.

Prior to joining Tyco, Ferris spent nine years with the Dexter Corporation, a specialty materials company, based in Connecticut. At Dexter, he started in the CEO's management development program, which led to a series of progressive management positions in Marketing and Research and Development at Dexter's Food Packaging, Automotive and Magnetic Materials businesses. His last position with Dexter was Vice President/General Manager of the Polymer Systems business.

Shortly after graduation from college, Ferris founded a premium, perishable manufacturing and distribution business, which he successfully ran for nine years. He holds a B.S. degree in Economics and Finance from Southern New Hampshire University.
