(2) Effective February 1, 2010, Tech Data Corporation has reclassified certain foreign currency exchange gains or losses within the accompanying Consolidated Statement of Operations to "Cost of products sold". Historically, these gains and losses were reported as a separate component of Other (income) expense titled "Net foreign currency exchange loss (gain)". Management believes this revised presentation is consistent with how the company manages and reports the underlying transactions giving rise to these foreign currency exchange gains and losses.

(3) Loss on disposal of subsidiaries relates to the exit of the company's operations in the UAE and Israel.

(4) Restructuring charges for the year ended January 31, 2008 include $18.1 M related to the closure of a European logistics center and $(2.0) M for changes in estimates related to the European restructuring program. Restructuring charges for the year ended January 31, 2007 relate to the company's European restructuring program completed in October 2006.

(5) Other costs represent consulting costs related to the company's European restructuring program completed in October 2006.

(6) Periods that incurred a GAAP net loss per share from continuing operations are calculated using basic weighted average common shares outstanding located in the Consolidated Statement of Operations.
