DRC Awarded $13 Million Contract for Unmanned Aircraft Systems Support

Company Expands Engineering, Program Management and Analysis Support

ANDOVER, Mass., Aug. 6, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Dynamics Research Corporation (Nasdaq:DRCO), a leading provider of innovative management consulting, engineering, science and technology solutions to federal and state governments, today announced it has been awarded a contract by the Army Contracting Command — National Capital Region to support the Air Force Medium Altitude Unmanned Aircraft Systems Program Office.

The task order, valued at $13 million, has a period of performance of 7.5 months and one option year. This latest task order expands DRC's work with this program by more than 20%, bringing total revenue with the program to approximately $16 million per year. Under the terms of the contract, DRC will expand its support in engineering, logistics, and program management services.

"We have been providing engineering and management services for the Air Force's unmanned systems for more than a decade and as a result bring deep expertise with a long and successful record," said Jim Regan, DRC's chairman and chief executive officer. "We are pleased to continue expanding our relationship with this high priority program."
