DRC Wins $6.1 Million Air Force Contract for Enterprise Architecture Support

Company to Streamline Enterprise Architecture for Air Force Medical Service

ANDOVER, Mass., June 21, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Dynamics Research Corporation (Nasdaq:DRCO), a leading provider of innovative management consulting, engineering, science and technology solutions to federal and state governments, today announced it has been awarded a new $6.1 million contract to support the Air Force Medical Service (AFMS). The contract was awarded through the Network Centric Solutions 2 (NETCENTS 2) Enterprise Integration and Service Management (EISM) vehicle. It has a period of performance of four years.

Under the terms of the contract, DRC will enhance and manage AFMS's enterprise architecture capabilities as well as integrate, centralize and streamline existing enterprise architecture tools, frameworks, models and artifacts.

"We are excited to have been selected for the first task order of the NETCENTS 2 vehicle, the Air Force's major new IT initiative," said Jim Regan, DRC's chairman and chief executive officer. "We are pleased to combine our industry leading expertise in government healthcare and enterprise architecture to deliver an innovative approach and support this critical customer."

NETCENTS 2 is the Air Force follow-on of the NETCENTS umbrella vehicle for telecommunications and IT services. Under the NETCENTS 2 EISM contract, the Air Force is expected to procure IT portfolio management analyses, enterprise-wide and cross-domain engineering and architectural analyses, enterprise business process reengineering solutions, and services to develop plans and strategies to implement new Service Oriented Architectures.
