Consolidated Communications launches CCI All Access App

Customers now have unlimited access to multiple networks and content providers

CONROE, Texas, July 28, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Consolidated Communications Holdings, Inc. (NASDAQ:CNSL), a leading broadband and business communications provider, recently launched the CCI All Access App giving customers access to more than 100 channels at home or on the go. The CCI All Access App provides a single access point to multiple network channels and third party content providers including Netflix, Hulu, Amazon and HBO.

The CCI All Access App is free of charge for Consolidated Digital TV subscribers and offers greater value through additional viewing options beyond traditional TV. Live streaming and on-demand shows, movies and sporting events are now viewable across all smart devices. Users can personalize content and preferences by creating a Watchlist for favorite programs, view up to two weeks of program schedules and search across multiple networks at one time. The app is available on Apple and Android devices through iTunes and Google Play stores.

"The CCI All Access App has been designed with customers in mind and provides convenience and simplicity," said Rob Koester, vice president of consumer product management at Consolidated Communications. "Customers can view content anywhere Internet access is available with a one-step sign in process. It's a great way to search across all networks and third parties such as Netflix and Hulu, stream live shows or bookmark and watch something later," added Koester.
