Fortinet CEO Ken Xie & CISO Phil Quade to Present at The Summit AT&T Business Event on New Approach Needed for Enterprises to Win the Cybersecurity Battle

SUNNYVALE, Calif., Oct. 31, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) --

Ken Xie, founder, chairman and chief executive officer at Fortinet

"Network complexity, the lack of visibility and sheer volume of threat data, coupled with a shortage of skilled cyber professionals are all impeding the ability for today's enterprises to detect and respond to an increasingly hostile and sophisticated threat landscape. Addressing these challenges for our joint customers, managed security service providers play an increasingly critical role in Fortinet's mission to protect the next evolution of enterprise infrastructures with our seamless, automated and tightly integrated Security Fabric."
