DynaVox Announces Appointment of New Chief Executive Officer

PITTSBURGH, June 11, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- DynaVox (Nasdaq:DVOX), the world's leading provider of communication and education products for individuals with significant speech, language and learning disabilities, today announced that Michelle L. Heying, the Company's current President and Chief Operating Officer, has been appointed President and Chief Executive Officer, effective immediately, replacing Edward L. Donnelly, Jr. Ms. Heying has also been appointed as a Director of the Company's Board. The Company's arrangements with Mr. Donnelly are in the process of being finalized.

Mr. Donnelly stated, "After almost five years as Chief Executive Officer of DynaVox and eight years on the Board, I have decided that now is the right time to step back and allow Michelle to take the reins. She has been a critical asset to the Company in fulfilling our mission of transforming the lives of our customers through both increased access to our products, as well as through continued innovation of our proprietary technologies. Michelle has my full support, and I am confident in her ability to lead the Company to the next level of its success."

Roger C. Holstein, Chairman of DynaVox, said, "Ed has led DynaVox's business with integrity and courage over the past five years. The members of the Board thank him for his leadership of the Company and for his countless contributions to our community of users."

Mr. Holstein added, "Michelle has been highly effective as President and COO for many years, and the Board is confident that her leadership will successfully guide the Company forward."

Commenting on her appointment, Ms. Heying stated, "I am grateful to the Board of Directors and Ed for their confidence in me. I am truly excited to have the opportunity to lead this Company and look forward to working together with the DynaVox team to build a strong future for our customers, shareholders, partners and employees."
