“For the fourth straight year LPL Financial increased revenue, generating 13% growth year-over-year to a record $4.1 billion,” stated Mark Casady, chairman and CEO of LPL Financial. “Revenue growth was driven by advisor productivity and investor engagement, which for the first time since the market break in 2008 were sustained over the course of a full year, as well as by strong market appreciation. Adjusted earnings per share grew for a fifth consecutive year, up 20% to a record $2.44 per share. Adjusted earnings per share benefited from strong growth in operating profits and our decision to repurchase 5.8 million shares during 2013, despite pressure from the low interest rate environment and $5 million in incremental share-based compensation for our advisor stock program that was marked to market due to our share price appreciation.”

Mr. Casady continued, “From a strategic viewpoint, in 2013 we focused on our core platform to capitalize on the embedded growth opportunities. We invested in our compliance and service capabilities to strengthen our offering and to enhance the tools and resources advisors need to be more productive. As we look ahead to 2014, we will expand our commitment of creating a smarter, simpler, more personal LPL as a means to drive productivity and efficiency at more normalized expense levels that sets the conditions for sustainable long-term growth.”

LPL Financial's chief financial officer, Dan Arnold, continued, “I am pleased with our continued success in advisor recruitment and retention making us an industry leader. After an industry-wide cyclical slowdown in business development in the first half of the year, we have seen advisor migration return to more normal levels. We attracted 110 net new advisors this past quarter and 321 in 2013, and retained 97% of our existing advisors' production. This success reflects the value of our independent business model to provide advisors and financial institutions with the integrated technology and broad array of services they need to manage and grow their businesses."

Mr. Arnold concluded, "In 2013, our record results generated strong excess cash flow, from which we returned $287 million to shareholders through $219 million of share repurchases and $68 million in dividends. We have decided not to pursue a conversion to a bank holding company, preferring instead to retain our capital-light structure and flexibility in our capital deployment. Accordingly, we have raised our quarterly dividend to $0.24 per share and expanded the capacity of our share repurchase plan by $150 million to a total of $218 million."

The Company reports Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted Earnings and Adjusted Earnings per share to present information about its earnings that eliminates the effects of items that it does not consider indicative of its core operating performance. Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted Earnings, and Adjusted Earnings per share have limitations as analytical tools and should not be considered in isolation or as substitutes for analysis of the Company's results as reported under GAAP. Some of these limitations are:

- a. Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted Earnings, and Adjusted Earnings per share do not reflect all cash expenditures, or contractual commitments; and do not reflect changes in, or cash requirements for, working capital needs; and
- b. Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect the significant interest expense, or the cash requirements necessary to service interest or principal payments, on debt.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

Adjusted Earnings represent net income before: (a) employee share-based compensation expense, (b) acquisition and integration related expenses, (c) restructuring and conversion costs, (d) debt extinguishment costs, (e) equity issuance and related offering costs, (f) amortization of intangible assets resulting from various acquisitions, and (g) other. Reconciling items are tax effected using the income tax rates in effect for the applicable period, adjusted for any potentially non-deductible amounts. Adjusted Earnings per share represents Adjusted Earnings divided by weighted average outstanding shares on a fully diluted basis. The Company prepared Adjusted Earnings and Adjusted Earnings per share to eliminate the effects of items that it does not consider indicative of its core operating performance. The Company believes this measure provides investors with greater transparency by helping illustrate the underlying financial and business trends relating to results of operations and financial condition and comparability between current and prior periods. Adjusted Earnings and Adjusted Earnings per share are not measures of the Company's financial performance under GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to net income or earnings per share or any other performance measure derived in accordance with GAAP, or as an alternative to cash flows from operating activities as a measure of profitability or liquidity.

Adjusted EBITDA is defined as EBITDA (net income plus interest expense, income tax expense, depreciation and amortization), further adjusted to exclude certain non-cash charges and other adjustments set forth in the table above. The Company presents Adjusted EBITDA because the Company considers it a useful financial metric in assessing the Company's operating performance from period to period by excluding certain items that the Company believes are not representative of its core business, such as certain material non-cash items and other adjustments that are outside the control of management. Adjusted EBITDA is not a measure of the Company's financial performance under GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to net income or any other performance measure derived in accordance with GAAP, or as an alternative to cash flows from operating activities as a measure of profitability or liquidity. In addition, Adjusted EBITDA can differ significantly from company to company depending on long-term strategic decisions regarding capital structure, the tax jurisdictions in which companies operate and capital investments.
