ChinaCache Announces Resignation of Chief Operating Officer

Vice President Huo Tao assumes chief operating officer responsibilities, to focus on developing sales in key markets

BEIJING, China — February 14, 2011 — ChinaCache International Holdings Ltd. (“ChinaCache” or the “Company”) (NASDAQ: CCIH), the leading provider of Internet content and application delivery services in China, today announced that its chief operating officer, Mr. Richard Xu, resigned for personal reasons. Mr. Xu will remain with the Company as a special advisor. Mr. Xu’s primary responsibilities will be assumed by Mr. Huo Tao, vice president of ChinaCache.

“Over the past four years Richard has helped ChinaCache build a solid sales and marketing team as well as a strong management team,” said Mr. Song Wang, co-founder, chairman and chief executive officer of ChinaCache. “On behalf of ChinaCache, I would like to express our sincere appreciation for Richard’s significant contributions to the Company and our best wishes for his future endeavors.”

Mr. Huo Tao, vice president, will be taking over Mr. Xu’s primary responsibilities, including overall operation of the Company’s corporate sales function and will focus on developing new strategic accounts nationwide. Mr. Huo joined ChinaCache in 2005 and had previously served as sales director for the North China region and most recently as general manager of the Cache Business Unit of ChinaCache.

“As an important member of ChinaCache’s management team over the past six years, Mr. Huo has an excellent track record developing operations and building sales teams,” Mr. Wang added. “With his extensive experience and understanding of China’s Internet content and application delivery services industry, I am extremely confident in his ability to continue developing and expanding our sales organization in key markets.”
