Bridge Interactive Recognized as First Company to Receive RESO Platinum Certification for its Web API

SEATTLE, Oct. 18, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Bridge Interactive®, which is housed under Zillow Group's portfolio of real estate and home-related brands, today announced that it has received Platinum Certification under the Real Estate Standards Organization's (RESO) Web API specification. As leading experts in industry standards, Bridge Interactive's suite of tools help streamline the access and management of all property listing content through modern, innovative technology.

Bridge Interactive is the first company to achieve this level of certification for its web API, demonstrating the company's ability and commitment to delivering best-in-class functionality. All real estate professionals accessing listing data via the Bridge API have the ability to access any authorized field in the MLS database in one place, with one API call.

"Achieving Platinum Certification marks a milestone for Bridge Interactive and showcases our dedication to RESO and the industry standards that it promotes for real estate professionals," said Errol Samuelson, Zillow Group's Chief Industry Development Officer. "As the first company to reach this level of certification for its web API, Bridge Interactive continues to demonstrate industry advancement and leadership."

"Achieving RESO Platinum Certification demonstrates how committed Bridge Interactive is to providing its customers access to the latest technology and the best in data standards," said Jeremy Crawford, RESO CEO. "The mission of RESO is to drive efficiency throughout the real estate industry and we are proud to have Bridge Interactive working alongside us to keep the industry moving forward."

Bridge Interactive has been helping brokers and MLSs manage and control listing content for over a decade. For more information on its suite of tools, visit www.bridgeinteractive.com.
