

Autobyte Partners with DriverSide to Bring Unrivaled Vehicle Ownership Tools to Consumers

Irvine, CA and San Francisco, CA — August 12, 2010 - Autobyte Inc. (Nasdaq:ABTL), a leader in providing consumers with a comprehensive and positive automotive research and purchasing experience, and DriverSide.com, the leading online vehicle ownership experience and full service customer acquisition and retention program for the auto industry, today announced that DriverSide will power the relaunch of Autobyte's MyGarage® within a personalized ownership section on autobyte.com. This is the first in a series of new innovative products and services addressing the entire vehicle purchasing and ownership lifecycle to be introduced by Autobyte.

"Autobyte is committed to extending its role as trusted advisor to consumers from their vehicle research and purchase process throughout their entire automotive ownership experience and beyond," said Autobyte President and CEO Jeff Coats. "I am especially pleased that we, along with DriverSide, can bring this unmatched offering to our current and new visitors who are holding onto their vehicles longer than ever, making timely scheduling of maintenance ever more critical. We believe that the addition of an ownership service will greatly benefit vehicle owners, and this is why we are pleased that DriverSide, which has world class tools and information for vehicle owners, will be powering Autobyte's MyGarage®."

Visitors to Autobyte's websites, including those who have had vehicle purchase requests submitted to dealers through Autobyte, will be able to register their vehicle at MyGarage® in order to access a personalized online "garage" or dashboard that tracks all the vital service events for their vehicle and offers help and advice in diagnosing and solving maintenance issues. Users will receive email alerts related to service, including special offers in their area, as well as warranty updates and notices should their vehicle be subject to a recall. They will have access to ratings and reviews of service facilities, diagnostic tools, free advice from certified mechanics and other services and features. Autobyte's MyGarage® powered by DriverSide is expected to relaunch on autobyte.com during the fourth quarter 2010.

"By offering this extended ownership service, Autobyte will enhance its advisory role to consumers and will have the ability to expand its commercial scope related to lead generation, advertising and direct marketing into additional automotive-related categories such as parts and service, insurance, manufacturer warranties and certified pre-owned vehicles," added Autobyte's Coats.

"Autobyte pioneered the consumer-friendly car-buying model on the web and we are pleased to partner with them to add our unique garage services to their sites," stated Jad Dunning, DriverSide CEO and Founder. "Customers appreciate the convenience and ease of having their personalized vehicle information online and DriverSide's tools and alerts will keep consumers loyal to Autobyte long after they have made their vehicle purchase."
