PEABODY, Mass., Jan. 11, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Analogic Corporation (Nasdaq:ALOG), enabling the world's medical imaging and aviation security technology, today announced that Jim Green, Analogic's president and CEO, Michael Levitz, senior vice president and CFO, along with other members of the Company's senior leadership team, will ring The NASDAQ Stock Market Opening Bell on Thursday, January 12, at 9:30 am ET.

For over 30 years, Analogic has developed leading-edge technologies in computed tomography (CT) and ultrasound, as well as other imaging modalities. In the last few years, we have made a number of changes to the business to take greater advantage of our technical excellence and introduce market-based solutions to drive growth and improved profitability. This has begun to pay off, as evidenced by our 14% revenue growth last fiscal year. We recently launched a comprehensive global re-branding initiative to better reflect our global mission and market-based focus. Our team and our Company are stronger than ever."

Analogic is a unified global organization aligned along its three business units of Medical Imaging, Ultrasound, and Security Technology and is focused on its mission to create innovative technologies to advance the practice of medicine and save lives. Looking to the future, the Company will continue its drive to commercialize new breakthroughs in precision imaging; extend its leading ultrasound technology into new adjacent clinical segments; drive new business opportunities in CT; expand imaging content with OEMs; and capitalize on long-term growth in aviation security resulting from the expected recapitalization of the U.S. market and the adoption of higher level threat detection standards, especially in Europe.
