

Analogic Enters Into New Long-Term Supply Agreement With L-3 Security & Detection Systems

Solidifies Long-Standing OEM Relationship

PEABODY, Mass., Jan. 11, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Analogic Corporation (Nasdaq:ALOG), enabling the world's medical imaging and aviation security technology, today announced that it has entered into a new long-term, exclusive purchase and supply agreement with L-3 Security and Detection Systems in connection with the industry-leading TSA-certified eXaminer® SX, eXaminer 3DX, and eXaminer XLB threat-detection systems for checked-baggage screening. Under the agreement, Analogic will also provide engineering services related to system improvements and upgrades. The agreement runs through the year 2023.

Jim Green, Analogic's president and CEO, said, "We are pleased to extend and reconfirm our relationship with L-3 for the world-class eXaminer family of certified threat-detection systems, providing a best-in-class portfolio of products addressing the reduced-size, medium-speed, and high-speed product tiers. This new long-term agreement reflects Analogic's position as a leading OEM supplier in the global aviation security market."

For more than a decade, Analogic has been developing state-of-the-art threat-detection systems and subsystems with advanced multi-slice CT technology for airports around the world. Analogic's CT-based technology is established as the industry standard for certified threat detection, with over 1000 eXaminer systems installed worldwide. The eXaminer family of systems is designed to meet the needs of a wide spectrum of customers, from the smallest regional airports to the largest international hubs.
