National General Enters into Renewal Rights Transaction with Nationwide For its Non-Standard Auto Business

NEW YORK, Dec. 08, 2016 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- National General Holdings Corp. (Nasdaq:NGHC) today announced that it has entered into a renewal rights transaction with Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company for its personal and commercial non-standard vehicle in-force policies. National General will partner with Nationwide's exclusive and independent agent force to sell its policies to their non-standard auto customers.

National General Chief Executive Officer Barry Karfunkel stated: "Our transaction with Nationwide will give National General the opportunity to expand our non-standard auto business, an area of the market where we have a great amount of expertise, through Nationwide's exemplary exclusive and independent agents. This transaction adds additional scale to one of our core products and we expect it to have a positive impact on our results. We look forward to working with Nationwide's associates and agents and providing a smooth transition for its customers."
