LONDON, November 14, 2016 – Ferroglobe PLC (NASDAQ: GSM), the world's leading producer of silicon metal, and a leading silicon- and manganese-based specialty alloys producer, announced today results for the third quarter of 2016.

In the third quarter of 2016, Ferroglobe posted a net loss of $(28.5) million, or $(0.17) per share on a fully diluted basis. Excluding an inventory impairment charge and an additional impairment charge for South Africa, the company posted an adjusted net loss of $(14.6) million, or $(0.09) per share on a fully diluted basis.

Ferroglobe reported an EBITDA loss of $(3.2) million for the third quarter due to an inventory impairment charge of $4.3 million in Venezuela and China, and a further $9.0 million impairment charge of the company's mining assets in South Africa. Excluding these charges Q3 2016 adjusted EBITDA was $12.8 million.

Net sales in the third quarter totalled $365.0 million, down from $398.0 million sequentially. In the third quarter, Ferroglobe's average selling price for silicon metal declined by 6% from the previous quarter's average selling price, primarily due to pressure from low-priced imports. During this period, the average selling price for silicon-based alloys decreased 3% from the second quarter of 2016 and the average selling price for manganese alloys increased 11% from the second quarter of 2016.

In terms of sales volumes, silicon metal experienced a decline of 5% quarter over quarter, silicon alloys experienced a decline of 7% quarter over quarter, and manganese alloys experienced a decline of 16% quarter over quarter, reflecting some seasonality of demand in summer months.

“Despite the poor results this quarter, primarily as a result of this year’s pricing pressures caused by low priced imports, we are now in the pricing season for 2017 and we are beginning to see some meaningful improvements. The market is adjusting to the realities of production costs, rebalanced inventories and idle capacity, with prices above the reported indexes. Additionally, we are changing our contract structures by removing all discounts to index for silicon metal, and will be utilizing those index providers who modify their reporting criteria to better reflect the overall market,” said CEO Pedro Larrea. “In the meantime, we have adapted to circumstances by relentlessly pursuing increased efficiencies, driving higher-than-expected synergies from our merger, and positioning ourselves to benefit from the forthcoming improving pricing environment. To that end, we have taken proactive steps to optimize our asset portfolio and achieved a 13% reduction in our overall cost structure as compared to pro-forma 2015. Combined, these measures have driven positive free cash flow and positive EBITDA on an adjusted basis and our balance sheet remains strong. We are well-positioned to benefit once prices recover,” concluded Larrea.

Financial discipline and cost management remain core priorities

Ferroglobe reported an EBITDA loss of $(3.2) million, primarily due to the impact of a continued challenging pricing environment as well as inventory impairment charges and an additional impairment charge of our South African mining assets.

Excluding these charges, Q3 2016 adjusted EBITDA was $12.8 million. Overall the price decline adversely impacted EBITDA by $6.5 million quarter-over-quarter in addition to volume declines of $1.6 million which were partially offset by reductions in production costs.

Ferroglobe is increasing its expectations for synergy attainment to $85 million on a run rate basis, up from $65 million previously. Year-to-date, already $43 million in synergies have been captured, and a total of $60 million is expected to be achieved in full year 2016. All in all, production costs have been reduced by $13% year-to-date.

In addition to cost management, the company also takes a proactive approach to managing its asset portfolio. As part of this, the company is currently pursuing strategic options regarding its hydro-electric assets in Spain and France. These discussions are at a preliminary stage and the company will provide further detail as and when appropriate.

Ferroglobe generated operating cash flows of $22.5 million in Q3 2016, or $76.3 million year-to-date. A significant part of the operating cash flows comes from working capital improvements of $39.9 million during Q3 2016, bringing improvements year-to-date to $136.5 million. The company has generated $23.1 million of free cash flow year-to-date, of which $11.7 million was generated during Q3 2016. ¹ Ferroglobe's net debt was $430 million at the end of Q3 2016, compared to $422 million at the end of Q2 2016.

The Board has decided to maintain the quarterly interim dividend of $0.08 per share, further reflecting the confidence in the underlying strength of the business and the company's long-term outlook. The dividend will have a record date of December 8, 2016 and a payment date of December 29, 2016.

¹ Free cash-flow defined as "Net cash provided by operating activities" minus "Payments for property, plant and equipment."

Non-GAAP Measures

EBITDA, adjusted EBITDA, adjusted loss attributable to parent and adjusted diluted loss per ordinary share are non-GAAP measures.

We have included these measures to provide supplemental measures of our performance which we believe are important because they eliminate items that have less bearing on our current and future operating performance and so highlights trends in our core business that may not otherwise be apparent when relying solely on GAAP financial measures.
