

ASC 606, Business Metrics and Guidance Approach

Robert Andersen – Chief Financial Officer

January 25, 2018

Safe Harbor Statement

This presentation contains forward-looking statements, which are made pursuant to the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ significantly from those projected, particularly with respect to the anticipated impact of the new revenue accounting standards and the Company's planned business metrics and guidance approach. Material factors that may cause results to differ from the statements made include the plans or operations relating to the businesses of the Company; market or industry conditions; changes in patent laws, regulation or enforcement, or other factors that might affect the Company's ability to protect or realize the value of its intellectual property; the expiration of license agreements and the cessation of related royalty income; the failure, inability or refusal of licensees to pay royalties; initiation, delays, setbacks or losses relating to the Company's intellectual property or intellectual property litigations, or invalidation or limitation of key patents; fluctuations in operating results due to the timing of new license agreements and royalties, or due to legal costs; the risk of a decline in demand for semiconductors and products utilizing our audio and imaging technologies; failure by the industry to use technologies covered by the Company's patents; the expiration of the Company's patents; the Company's ability to successfully complete and integrate acquisitions of businesses; the risk of loss of, or decreases in production orders from, customers of acquired businesses; financial and regulatory risks associated with the international nature of the Company's businesses; failure of the Company's products to achieve technological feasibility or profitability; failure to successfully commercialize the Company's products; changes in demand for the products of the Company's customers; limited opportunities to license technologies due to high concentration in applicable markets for such technologies; the impact of competing technologies on the demand for the Company's technologies; pricing trends, including the Company's ability to achieve economies of scale; and other developments in the markets in which the Company operates, as well as management's response to any of the aforementioned factors. You are cautioned not to place undue reliance on the forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this presentation.

The foregoing review of important factors should not be construed as exhaustive and should be read in conjunction with the other cautionary statements that are included herein and elsewhere, including the Risk Factors included in the Company's recent reports on Form 10-K and Form 10-Q and other documents of the Company on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"). The Company's SEC filings are available publicly on the SEC's website at www.sec.gov. Any forward-looking statements made or incorporated by reference herein are qualified in their entirety by these cautionary statements, and there can be no assurance that the actual results or developments anticipated by the Company will be realized or, even if substantially realized, that they will have the expected consequences to, or effects on, the Company or its business or operations. Except to the extent required by applicable law, the Company undertakes no obligation to update publicly or revise any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise.

New Revenue Accounting Standard ASC 606

Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 606

Principles-based revenue
standard

Originally issued in May 2014
by the FASB and IASB

Adopted by Xperi beginning in 2018

Overview:

Revenue will be recognized when an entity satisfies each “performance obligation” in a customer contract

Goods or services can transfer at a point in time or over time depending on the nature of the arrangement

ASC 606 Impact to Xperi Corporation

What does not change?

- Cash flow (including operating cash flow), billings, customer invoicing, cost of revenue, operating expenses

What changes?

- Revenue for fixed-fee and minimum-guarantee contracts
- Revenue for per-unit royalty contracts
- Small change to other income
- Unbilled contracts at 1/1/2018 will be booked to the balance sheet and not taken to revenue

What are the impacts?

- Years prior to 2018 will not be restated
- For 2018, revenue will be reported under the new standard and disclosed under the prior standard
- Management will focus on billings and operating cash flow as key metrics for the business

Approach to Licensing

The company enters into contracts with customers that are in the long-term interest of the company and its shareholders

- License contracts generate consistent cash flows over multi-year periods
- Fixed fee arrangements provide certainty to both parties and reflect the ongoing value being provided over the license period
- Minimum guarantee arrangements provide certainty and create an incentive for customers to continue designing our solutions into their future products
- Per-unit royalty arrangements deliver value as the company's technology is shipped

Fixed-Fee and Minimum Guarantee Contracts

What does not change?

- Billings and cash collection

What changes?

- Revenue for the entire fixed-fee or minimum guaranteed portion is recognized in the quarter the contract is first effective
- Per-unit revenue above a minimum guarantee is estimated each quarter and trued up when the royalty report is received
- Small amount of imputed interest for contracts greater than one year

What is the impact?

- Higher volatility in quarterly and annual revenue

Example: Fixed-Fee License Contract Over Four Years

Year:	1	2	3	4	TOTAL
Prior Standard
Revenue	$10	$10	$10	$10	$40
Billings	$10	$10	$10	$10	$40
Cash Collection	$10	$10	$10	$10	$40
ASC 606
Revenue	$40	$0	$0	$0	$40
Billings	$10	$10	$10	$10	$40
Cash Collection	$10	$10	$10	$10	$40

Per-Unit Royalty Contracts

Example: Per-Unit Royalty Contracts

What does not change?

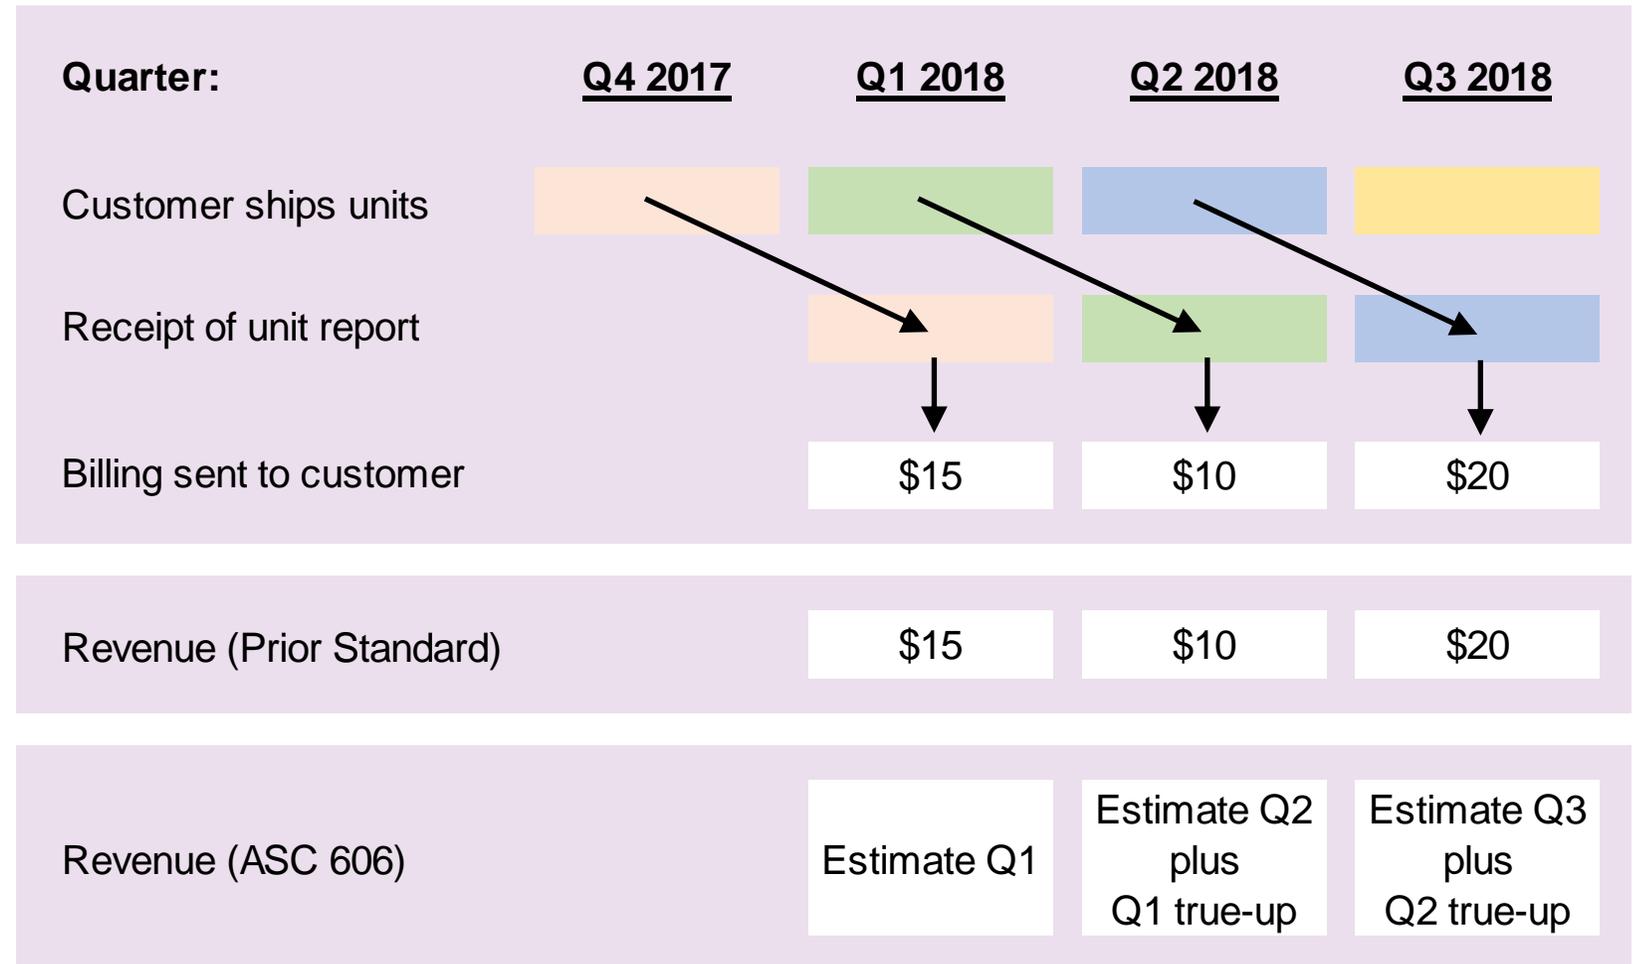

- Timing of royalty reports
- Billings and cash collection

What changes?

- Revenue is estimated for a quarter and true up in the following quarter when the royalty report is received

What is the impact?

- Minimal impact to annual revenue

Business Metrics and Guidance Approach

Billings

Highly correlated with underlying business activity

Not impacted by purchase accounting

Comparable between year-over-year accounting periods

Difference in 2017 between billings and revenue plus purchase accounting is <1%

Prior Method

Fiscal Year 2017
Revenue	$373M
Purchase Accounting Impact	$52M

New Metric

Fiscal Year 2017
Billings	$422M

The difference between 2017 revenue plus the purchase accounting impact, compared to billings, was less than 1%

Billings Reporting

Beginning with Q1 2018 earnings, Xperi will start reporting billings information for the quarter, along with the comparable quarter of 2017, as follows:

- Product Licensing: Mobile, Home and Auto
- Semiconductor & IP Licensing

Xperi's Approach to Guidance

The company will provide the following guidance ranges for fiscal year 2018 at the Q4 2017 earnings announcement:

- Billings
- Operating expense line items
- Tax expense
- Operating cash flow
- Number of shares outstanding

The company will provide a quarterly guidance range on billings

Summary

- The new accounting standard has a significant impact to Xperi's revenue reporting
- The company structures customer deals to provide the best business value
- Customer billings and operating cash flow become key metrics for measuring the business
- The company will begin guiding on billings and cease revenue guidance

Thank You