Russian Standard Bank and Planet Payment Announce Launch of Pay in Your Currency®

MOSCOW, Russia and LONG BEACH, N.Y., Oct. 02, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Russian Standard Bank (RSB), the second largest acquirer in Russia, and Planet Payment, Inc. (NASDAQ:PLPM), a leading international and multi-currency payment processor, today announced the launch of Pay in Your Currency®, Planet Payment's Dynamic Currency Conversion solution, to RSB's portfolio of merchants.

The first dynamic currency conversion solution in this market, Pay in Your Currency®, which will be available on standalone Point-of-Sale (POS) terminals, provides eligible international customers with the choice to pay in their local currency. Customers will be given the convenience of selecting on their receipt whether they prefer to pay in Russian Rubles or the currency they know best — their own.

Pay in Your Currency enables merchants to reduce processing costs on foreign transactions, while offering a customized payment experience to attract international customers. RSB merchants continue to receive settlement and reporting in Russian Rubles, with no delay in funding.

"Planet Payment is pleased to partner with Russian Standard Bank to bring Pay in Your Currency to Russia," said Jonathan Ellis, Managing Director, EMEA at Planet Payment. "RSB is one of the largest acquirers in the region, and we couldn't ask for a better partner to work with. We believe Pay in Your Currency will be a positive, value-added solution for RSB, their merchants and their customers."
