Greenwich annually conducts approximately 10,000 interviews with business owners and executives. Participants are asked about their experiences with firms that help them invest and grow their financial resources.

Based on those interviews, for the third consecutive year, Regions Private Wealth Management received the Greenwich Excellence Award for Overall Satisfaction. More than 150 firms were evaluated. Only six firms received the overall satisfaction award for 2017.

"People have many choices when it comes to making investments and creating a long-term financial plan, and Regions sets itself apart by taking a highly customized approach that's built around the goals of our individual clients," said Kate Danella, head of Regions Private Wealth Management. "We are honored that clients are sharing positive experiences with Regions. Our commitment to superior service will continue to grow as we move further into the digital era and reach more clients with tailored financial plans that meet their individual needs."

When compiling its 2017 Greenwich Excellence Awards, the consulting company only included wealth management providers that received a statistically significant proportion of "Excellent" ratings relative to the overall mean.

With $20.9 billion in assets under administration, Regions Private Wealth Management has experienced strong growth, increasing households, assets and revenues over the last several years, and ranking among the Top 40 Wealth Management Firms by Barron's Penta in 2017. Regions' broader Wealth Management Group, which includes Private Wealth Management, Institutional Services and more, has $90.6 billion in assets under administration. Regions established the Wealth Management Group in 2012 as the company brought its Trust, Private Banking, Asset Management and Insurance units into a single group.
