

ManTech Names Ralph R. Tuccillo Corporate Vice President of Capture Management

FAIRFAX, Va., Sep 07, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- ManTech International Corporation (NASDAQ:MANT) (<http://www.mantech.com>), a leading provider of innovative technologies and solutions for mission-critical national security programs, announced today that it has named Ralph R. Tuccillo corporate vice president of capture management. In this position, Tuccillo will lead the company's business capture efforts, working closely with ManTech's business units to develop and execute effective business capture strategies for major federal opportunities.

Tuccillo has significant senior leadership experience in business development and capture management in the federal contracting environment. Before joining ManTech, he was senior vice president of business development for McNeil Technologies, and senior vice president for capture management at CACI International. At both companies, Tuccillo helped drive numerous multi-million dollar wins with major federal agencies. Before that, he was director of business development for DynCorp, and became the executive director of capture management at CSC when the two companies merged in 2003.

Tuccillo served as chief of staff of the U.S. Army Military District of Washington and was commander of the Army Air Force Exchange Service-Europe, the largest U.S. overseas retail business operation supporting troops stationed across the globe. He held various logistics and business leadership positions during his 30-year Army career. He holds an MBA from George Washington University with a major in information technology, and is a graduate of the United States Military Academy and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

"Ralph brings strong business development and capture skills coupled with tremendous knowledge of and insight into the federal contracting marketplace," said Executive Vice President of Business Development Sally A. Sullivan. "As ManTech bids and wins larger, prime-contract opportunities, Ralph will help us develop compelling solutions from across ManTech's wealth of capabilities to best support the needs of our federal customers. I am delighted to add him to our business development team."
