

ManTech Awarded Contract with Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command

Company to Provide Engineering and Systems Integration Support for U.S. Navy and Marine Corps

FAIRFAX, Va., Oct 25, 2010 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- ManTech International Corporation (NASDAQ:MANT) (<http://www.mantech.com>), a leading provider of innovative technologies and solutions for mission-critical national security programs, today announced the company has received a contract with the Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command (SPAWAR) Center Atlantic to perform technical support services required to augment command, control, communications, computers, intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance required by multiple Department of Defense and other federal agencies. The multiple-award, indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity contract has a potential total value of $49.8 million, with an initial period of performance one year plus four option years.

A SPAWAR Atlantic partner for more than 15 years, ManTech will support the engineering and software integration of tactical systems for the Navy and USMC, which includes mobile, tactical and fixed-site vehicle systems, fleet management systems, procurement and lifecycle management programs. SPAWAR serves as war-fighting lab, offering IT products and services, engineering, and integration for Command, Control, Communications, Computers, Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance (C4ISR) systems as one of three acquisition commands for the U.S. Navy.

Terry M. Ryan, president and chief operating officer of ManTech's Systems Engineering and Advanced Technology group, said, "For the past 15 years, ManTech has been a trusted SPAWAR Atlantic partner, and this contract demonstrates our commitment to the organization and dedication to delivering leading-edge technology to the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps. As a steadfast supporter of the U.S. armed forces, it is a privilege for ManTech to continue offering our expertise to those who keep our country safe."
