Frontier Communications Keeps It Simple and Local for Complex Business Telecommunications Needs

Locally-Based Frontier Offers SureWest Business Customers a Penalty-Free Opportunity Thanks to California Public Utilities Commission Conditions

ELK GROVE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Following last week's announcement of SureWest's sale to an out-of-state company, locally-based Frontier Communications is offering SureWest business customers help with all their communications needs.

Consultative-based solutions for small and medium businesses include Ethernet, web hosting, cloud storage, network security, unified communications, video and voice services, all offered by Frontier and all designed to help businesses grow and thrive. Frontier's historic regional and local ties to Elk Grove give it unique insight into the strategic importance of how strong businesses anchor this community; its business solutions, 100% U.S.- based workforce and 24/7 technical support 365 days a year are geared to help every business succeed.

For the next 60 days the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) is requiring SureWest, among many other conditions, to specifically waive early termination fees (ETFs) associated with SureWest's business accounts. These ETF waivers apply to contract-bundled services which include those services under the jurisdiction of the CPUC.

Frontier hopes business customers will take full advantage of this "no-penalty opportunity" offered by the CPUC to learn more about its consulting assistance, implementation support, and turn-key communications solutions. The company is ready, willing and able to help businesses make the transition to Frontier free of worry from cost and implementation perspectives.
