Jays launches a-Six Wireless with exceptional battery life

Swedish audio product developer Jays Group AB (publ) presents a-Six Wireless – a small, lightweight, powerful earphone model with precision-made metal housing and 12 hours of playtime*

Jays Group AB (publ) is now introducing its first wireless earphones, a-Six Wireless. The new behind-the-neck model is precisely engineered to deliver high acoustic quality in an astonishingly small size. Encased in a CNC milled aluminum housing, the decal plate made of stainless steel has laser-cut holes that serve as a tuned bass port. This results in a higher audio quality.

a-Six Wireless pairs to your device using Bluetooth® and offers an unrivalled wireless performance with 12 hours of playtime.

Some of the details and functions of Jays a-Six Wireless:

- Best-in-class battery life
- Precision made metal housing
- One of the smallest earphones in its class
- Trouble-free wireless connection

a-Six Wireless is currently in pre-production and is expected to ship in January 2018.

a-Six Wireless comes in combinations of black on gold, white on silver and the new edition gray on silver.
