An update from Bob Evans Farms

Dear partners,

We are reaching out with exciting news. Today, we announced that Bob Evans Farms will be acquired by Post Holdings, a leading consumer packaged goods company headquartered in St. Louis, Missouri. Post Holdings has a broad and successful portfolio of brands – from cereals, granola and protein shakes and bars to egg, potato, cheese and pasta – so our companies are a strong, complementary fit.

The press release announcing this transaction, which includes more information on Post Holdings, is attached for your reference.

We expect the acquisition to be complete in the first calendar quarter of 2018, subject to regulatory review and approval by Bob Evans stockholders. Once the transaction has closed, the plan is to combine the existing Post retail refrigerated egg, potato and cheese business with ours, establishing a refrigerated retail business within Post that will be led by me as President and CEO of Bob Evans Farms. Our foodservice business will be combined with Michael Foods' commercial foodservice business to form a new foodservice business within Post that will be led by Jim Dwyer, President and CEO of Michael Foods.

I want to assure you this news has no effect on our existing supplier contracts. It is business as usual and your relationship with Bob Evans Farms will remain the same. If you have any questions about today's announcement, please feel free to reach out to your regular Bob Evans Farms point of contact or directly to me.

Thank you for your continued service and support.

Best regards,

Mike Townsley
President and CEO of Bob Evans Farms, Inc.
