

CACI President and Chief Executive Officer Paul Cofoni Honored as Federal 100 Awardee

Leader Recognized for Company's Positive Contributions to Federal Government

Arlington, VA, February 25, 2008 - CACI International Inc (NYSE:CAI) announced today that its President and Chief Executive Officer, Paul Cofoni, has been named to Federal Computer Week's (FCW) Federal 100 list of government and industry leaders who have had a positive impact on federal information technology (IT) practices. Federal 100 winners are honored for their risk-taking, vision, and pioneering spirit in the federal IT community. Winners are nominated by FCW readers and chosen by an independent panel of judges. The awards will be presented at a ceremony at the Ritz Carlton hotel in Tysons Corner, Virginia on March 24, 2008.

As CACI's top executive, Mr. Cofoni leads a highly experienced and qualified senior management team in executing a strategy of aligning CACI's functional core competencies, professional services, innovative tools, and best-value solutions to help the U.S. government protect our nation and defend against global threats. His vision for CACI's future is for the company to play an ever-expanding role as a national asset, delivering timely and essential capabilities at the nexus of intelligence and security services.

Mr. Cofoni has guided CACI to increasingly broaden the array of solutions it offers to the federal marketplace, especially in the areas of intelligence and homeland security. He has led company-wide efforts in developing CACI's ability to compete for large, Tier 1 contracts at the highest levels of government service. He has overseen the growth of the company's capabilities to support critical infrastructure, help clients collect and analyze information that is vital to the protection of our nation and our armed forces, and enable the secure communication of that information to key decision-makers.

In acknowledging the award, Mr. Cofoni said, "I am honored to be the recipient of this significant recognition. I accept the award on behalf of all the people of CACI, whose goal is to be the very best in serving our federal government and its critical needs for professional services and information technology solutions that strengthen government capabilities in national security, intelligence, homeland security, and improvement of government services."

Dr. J.P. (Jack) London, CACI Executive Chairman and Chairman of the Board, and himself a 2004 Federal 100 awardee, said, "Paul Cofoni's exceptional skills in leading and inspiring people help all of the company's 11,600-plus employees focus on maintaining CACI as a national asset for national missions. His recognition confirms the strength of CACI's contributions to our nation's greatest challenges."

CACI International Inc provides the IT and network solutions needed to prevail in today's new era of national security, intelligence, and e-government. From systems integration and managed network solutions to knowledge management, engineering, simulation, and information assurance, we deliver the IT applications and infrastructures our federal customers use to improve communications and collaboration, secure the integrity of information systems and networks, enhance data collection and analysis, and increase efficiency and mission effectiveness. Our solutions lead the transformation of national security and intelligence, assure homeland security, enhance decision-making, and help government to work smarter, faster, and more responsively. CACI is a member of the Fortune 1000 Largest Companies of 2007 and the Russell 2000 index. CACI provides dynamic careers for approximately 11,600 employees working in over 120 offices in the U.S. and Europe. CACI is the IT provider for a networked world. Visit CACI on the web at www.caci.com.

There are statements made herein which do not address historical facts and, therefore could be interpreted to be forward-looking statements as that term is defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements are subject to factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from anticipated results. The factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those anticipated include, but are not limited to, the following: regional and national economic conditions in the United States and the United Kingdom, including conditions that result from terrorist activities or war; failure to achieve contract awards in connection with recompetes for present business and/or competition for new business; the risks and uncertainties associated with client interest in and purchases of new products and/or services; continued funding of U.S. government or other public sector projects in the event of a priority need for funds, such as homeland security, the war on terrorism or rebuilding Iraq; government contract procurement (such as bid protest, small business set asides, etc.) and termination risks; the results of government investigations into allegations of improper actions related to the provision of services in support of U.S. military operations in Iraq; individual business decisions of our clients; paradigm shifts in technology; competitive factors such as pricing pressures and/or competition to hire and retain employees (particularly those with security clearances); material changes in laws or regulations applicable to our businesses, particularly in connection with (i) government contracts for services, (ii) outsourcing of activities that have been performed by the government, and (iii) competition for task orders under Government Wide Acquisition Contracts ("GWACs") and/or schedule contracts with the General Services Administration; our own ability to achieve the objectives of near term or long range business plans; and other risks described in the company's Securities and Exchange Commission filings.

###

For investor information contact:

David Dragics
Senior Vice President, Investor Relations
(866) 606-3471
ddragics@caci.com

For other information contact:

Jody Brown
Executive Vice President, Public Relations
(703) 841-7801
jbrown@caci.com