

CACI Ranked Number 5 on GI Jobs List of Top 100 Military-Friendly Employers

2011 Recognition Marks Significant Increase from Previous Listing Honoring Excellence in Supporting Military Personnel Transitioning to Civilian Employment

ARLINGTON, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- CACI International Inc (NYSE:CACI) announced today that it has placed number 5 in GI Jobs magazine's list of the nation's Top 100 Military-Friendly Employers®, up from 31st last year. GI Jobs is the premier publication for military transitioning to civilian employment, providing education, transition assistance, and job opportunities. The award honors CACI's outstanding support for hiring former military and Guard/Reserve personnel. The publication's list, drawn from a pool of an estimated 5,000 eligible companies (those with over $500 million in annual revenues), was created based on survey responses to criteria including the strength of company military recruiting efforts, the percentage of new hires with prior military service, and policies toward national guard and reserve service.

CACI's commitment to servicemen and women is rooted in its workforce, which includes more than 2,200 veterans. The company's employees actively participate in veterans' organizations and serve as officers in many of them. CACI is involved in many military-friendly recruitment opportunities and works with veterans in transition centers and military medical facilities to prepare the service people moving into the civilian sector. And the company provides meaningful careers for veterans with disabilities through its award-winning Deploying Talent - Creating Careers program, which has helped add more than 350 disabled veterans to the CACI's employee base.

CACI also provides funds and volunteers to help the United Service Organization (USO), and President of U.S. Operations Bill Fairl sits on the USO-Metropolitan Washington board of directors. The company is a co-founding sponsor of Cause (Comfort for America's Uniformed Services), a nonprofit organization that helps warfighters recuperating from wounds and injuries. And it also supports the Special Operations Warrior Foundation, which helps the surviving children of lost military personnel, Walter Reed Hospital, and the Fisher House program, which provides housing to family members of hospitalized serviceman and women.

Bill Fairl, President of U.S. Operations, said, "We are deeply honored to have our company-wide support of veterans recognized with this GI Jobs listing. Our increase in ranking from 31st to number 5 is a clear indication of our firm commitment to providing outstanding career opportunities to servicemen and women who have an insight and mindset honed by service to the nation."

According to President and CEO Paul Cofoni, "As a company serving numerous Department of Defense customers — and as a concerned corporate citizen — CACI knows it is vitally important for us to provide an environment that encourages veterans to continue to support national priorities. We've found that these talented professionals are a key component of our success as they consistently make use of their talent, experience, and dedication to advance innovative solutions."

CACI provides professional services and IT solutions needed for defense, intelligence, homeland security, and IT modernization and government transformation. We deliver enterprise IT and network services; data, information, and knowledge management services; business system solutions; logistics and material readiness; C4ISR services; cyber solutions; integrated security and intelligence solutions; and program management and SETA support services. CACI services and solutions help our federal clients provide for national security, improve communications and collaboration, secure the integrity of information systems and networks, enhance data collection and analysis, and increase efficiency and mission effectiveness. CACI is a member of the Fortune 1000 Largest Companies and the Russell 2000 index. CACI provides dynamic careers for approximately 13,400 employees working in over 120 offices in the U.S. and Europe. Visit CACI on the web at www.caci.com and www.asymmetricthreat.net.

There are statements made herein which do not address historical facts, and therefore could be interpreted to be forward-looking statements as that term is defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements are subject to factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from anticipated results. The factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those anticipated include, but are not limited to, the following: regional and national economic conditions in the United States and the United Kingdom, including conditions that result from a prolonged recession; terrorist activities or war; changes in interest rates; currency fluctuations; significant fluctuations in the equity markets; changes in our effective tax rate; valuation of contingent consideration in connection with business combinations; failure to achieve contract awards in connection with recompetes for present business and/or competition for new business; the risks and uncertainties associated with client interest in and purchases of new products and/or services; continued funding of U.S. government or other public sector projects, based on a change in spending patterns, or in the event of a priority need for funds, such as homeland security, the war on terrorism or rebuilding Iraq, or an economic stimulus package; government contract procurement (such as bid protest, small business set asides, loss of work due to organizational conflicts of interest, etc.) and termination risks; the results of government investigations into allegations of improper actions related to the provision of services in support of U.S. military operations in Iraq; the results of government audit and reviews conducted by the Defense Contract Audit Agency or other governmental entities with cognizant oversight; the insourcing of contractor positions by the government; individual business decisions of our clients; paradigm shifts in technology; competitive factors such as pricing pressures and/or competition to hire and retain employees (particularly those with security clearances); market speculation regarding our continued independence; material changes in laws or regulations applicable to our businesses, particularly in connection with (i) government contracts for services, (ii) outsourcing of activities that have been performed by the government, and (iii) competition for task orders under Government Wide Acquisition Contracts ("GWACs") and/or schedule contracts with the General Services Administration; the ability to integrate the operations of our recent acquisitions; our own ability to achieve the objectives of near term or long range business plans; and other risks described in the Company's Securities and Exchange Commission filings.

CACI International Inc
Corporate Communications and Media:
Jody Brown, Executive Vice President, Public Relations, 703-841-7801
jbrown@caci.com

or Investor Relations:
David Dragics, Senior Vice President, Investor Relations, 866-606-3471
ddragics@caci.com

Source: CACI International Inc

News Provided by Acquire Media