

Heald College Honors Students and Teachers from Across the State

HONOLULU, HI – The Honolulu campus of Heald College recently held its annual Awards and Recognition Reception to honor both students and educators from all over the state. This year over 200 people attended the awards ceremony including Gail Haraguchi, Director of the Department of Customer Service for the City and County of Honolulu, who delivered a message from Mayor Peter Carlisle.

This year marked the 35th year of the high school scholarship program for the Honolulu campus; after the night's ceremonies, over $142,000 had been awarded to the class of 2011. To be considered for a scholarship, students were required to complete a comprehensive application process that included interviewing with a panel of judges, submitting letters of recommendation and official high school transcripts, and completing the Heald Admissions process. This year 60 students from 20 different high schools were awarded scholarships by Heald College with values ranging from $1,000 to $12,000.*

In addition to recognizing outstanding high school students, the night's program included a ceremony to honor local high school teachers who had been nominated by their students for the "Excellence in Career Education Teaching Award." Six teachers from various high schools were presented with the award* and the night was even more special because the nominating students were also in attendance. Heald College also recognized one of its own by awarding Stephanie Van Leer the "Outstanding Instructor Award," a student nominated-award that has been presented to a Heald College faculty member annually since 1990.

"This is a very exciting night for everyone at Heald College," commented Evelyn Schemmel, Campus President. "It is not only a time for us to recognize the hard work of local students, but also an opportunity for students to thank their teachers for the work they do. As a former teacher, I know nothing means more than the accolades of your students."
