

FEMA Awards Contract to PaTH Joint Venture of DynCorp International, Dewberry and Parsons

FALLS CHURCH, Va., Jul 10, 2009 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has awarded a contract to Partnership for Temporary Housing, LLC (PaTH) to provide temporary housing and support for shelter operations for disaster victims. The indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity Individual Assistance-Technical Assistance Contract III (IA-TAC III), has a potential value of $375 million over the one-year base period and four one-year option periods.

PaTH is a limited liability corporation formed by DynCorp International LLC, Dewberry, and Parsons Corporation. PaTH provides responsive, cost-effective temporary housing services and mass care solutions to disaster victims on behalf of the Department of Homeland Security's FEMA. In 2008, PaTH assisted flood victims in Iowa with the provision of temporary shelter, under its IA-TAC II contract.

Under the IA-TAC III contract, the PaTH joint venture is responsible for work in the western continental U.S., as well as Alaska, Hawaii, Guam and American Samoa. The primary work to be performed under task orders is expected to include the provision of temporary housing and support to shelter operations in the assigned sector.
