Endologix Announces CFO Retirement

IRVINE, Calif., Dec. 4, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Endologix, Inc. (Nasdaq:ELGX), developer and marketer of innovative treatments for aortic disorders, announced today that Robert J. Krist, Chief Financial Officer, has decided to retire. Mr. Krist will continue to serve as the Company's Chief Financial Officer until a successor has been hired and will remain available to the Company as long as is required in order to ensure a smooth transition. The Company has identified candidates for a new Chief Financial Officer and hopes to make an announcement in early 2013.

John McDermott, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Endologix, said, "On behalf of the board of directors and the Endologix management team, I would like to thank Bob for his many years of service to the Company. Since joining in 2004, he has played an integral role in the Company's growth, including establishing a strong financial position. I am confident that our team is well prepared to support the continued execution of our growth strategy and I appreciate Bob's commitment to ensuring a smooth transition. We wish him the very best in his upcoming retirement."

About Endologix, Inc.

Endologix, Inc. develops and manufactures minimally invasive treatments for aortic disorders. Endologix focus is endovascular stent grafts for the treatment of abdominal aortic aneurysms (AAA). AAA is a weakening of the wall of the aorta, the largest artery in the body, resulting in a balloon-like enlargement. Once AAA develops, it continues to enlarge and, if left untreated, becomes increasingly susceptible to rupture. The overall patient mortality rate for ruptured AAA is approximately 75%, making it a leading cause of death in the U.S. Additional information can be found on Endologix's website at www.endologix.com.
