EXL Wins 'Best Company of the Year' in the Philippines

Sweeps Top Honors at International ICT Awards 2017, Manila

NEW YORK and MANILA, Philippines, April 26, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- EXL (NASDAQ:EXLS), a leading Operations Management and Analytics company, today announced it has won the "Best Company of the year" award in Manila at the International ICT Awards organized by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines (CanCham) in association with the IT and Business Process Association of the Philippines (IBPAP).

EXL was also declared a winner in two other categories: "Best Health Information Management Company," and "Best First-Time Nominated Company."

Commenting on the win, Jaideep Pradhan, Senior Vice President & Geography Head of Philippines, Europe, South Africa and the Americas, said, "We are excited to get recognized with three prominent honors at the ICT Awards 2017. These awards demonstrate our commitment and ability to support the growth and profitability objectives of our clients through transformative solutions and highest quality of service delivery. The recognition of 'Best Health Information Management Company' underscores our capability to integrate care management with analytics and technology to offer custom-built solutions to the healthcare industry."

The International ICT Awards follow well-defined and published criteria to judge winners across multiple categories. The decision is made by a distinguished panel of judges after assessing submissions against publicly announced criteria. The award nominees are judged on multiple parameters such as growth of company, size, quality and diversity of clientele, depth and breadth of competencies, and company management.

EXL has been growing rapidly in the Philippines. EXL's operations in the Philippines has emerged as a Center of Excellence for healthcare and clinical services and it currently employs more than 4,500 professionals with nursing and medical degrees, finance backgrounds, and other specialized skills. In the Philippines, EXL serves clients from the insurance, banking and financial services, healthcare and travel, transportation and logistics industries, and operates five world-class delivery centers spread across three locations.
