Hill International Receives Project Management Contract from the University of Texas System

PHILADELPHIA and AUSTIN, Texas, May 15, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Hill International (NYSE:HIL), the global leader in managing construction risk, announced today that it has received an indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity contract from the Office of Facilities Planning and Construction of the University of Texas System to provide project management services during the construction of various higher education and healthcare capital projects.

Services to be provided by Hill under the contract are expected to include staff augmentation in the areas of project management, construction management, construction inspection, cost and schedule control, administration, construction project auditing and other areas associated with design and construction of the university's capital projects.

"We are proud to have supported the University of Texas System on their capital program since 2007," said Robert A. Ferguson, CCPM, LEED AP, Senior Vice President and Southern Regional Manager for Hill's Project Management Group. "We are confident that our team will continue to deliver exceptional service to our client," added Ferguson.

Hill International, with 3,300 professionals in more than 70 offices worldwide, provides program management, project management, construction management and other consulting services primarily to the buildings, transportation, environmental, energy and industrial markets. Engineering News-Record magazine recently ranked Hill as the eighth largest construction management firm in the United States.
