

InfoSpace Names Elizabeth Huebner as New Member of Its Board

BELLEVUE, Wash., May 13, 2009 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- InfoSpace, Inc. (NASDAQ: INSP) today announced the appointment of Elizabeth Huebner to the Company's Board of Directors.

"Liz is an accomplished and seasoned executive and brings to InfoSpace a depth of experience in financial management," said Will Lansing, president and chief executive officer of InfoSpace. "I am pleased to have her as part of the team moving forward as we focus our efforts to drive growth and profitability."

After working more than twenty-six years in the finance sector, in 2006, Huebner retired as chief financial officer and senior vice president at Getty Images, Inc., a distributor of digital images and content. Prior to working at Getty, Huebner was the executive vice president and chief financial officer of Primus Knowledge Solutions, Inc., where she successfully helped the company through its initial public offering. Huebner has also served as vice president and chief financial officer of Fluke Corporation, vice president and chief financial officer for the Western Region of McCaw Cellular Communications, Inc., and as an audit manager with Arthur Andersen.

"InfoSpace has a unique position in the Internet search business and has a lot of potential for further growth," Huebner said. "I look forward to working with InfoSpace's board members to help shape the direction of the company."

Huebner will join eight other members on InfoSpace's board, which consist of: James F. Voelker, InfoSpace chairman; William J. Lansing, InfoSpace president and chief executive officer; John E. Cunningham, IV, partner of Clear View Partners, L.P.; Jules Haimovitz, president of Haimovitz Consulting; William J. Ruckelshaus, chief financial officer of AudienceScience; Lewis M. Taffer, operating advisor of Pegasus Capital Advisors; and George M. Tronsrue, III, manager of Jericho Fund, LLC.
