ManpowerGroup Appoints Michael Stull to Lead its Manpower North America Business

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 16, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- ManpowerGroup (NYSE: MAN) today announced that Michael Stull has been appointed Senior Vice President for Manpower North America. He will lead the Manpower brand within the North America operation, effective immediately. Kip Wright, former SVP Manpower North America will be leaving ManpowerGroup at the end of December. Wright led the Manpower brand for two years and previously led the ManpowerGroup Solutions business after joining the organization as part of the Comsys acquisition in 2010.

ManpowerGroup®

Stull has led Global Marketing across 80 countries and all brands for the last five years. He has played a lead role in leveraging technology solutions and third party relationships to enhance and modernize the experience for candidates and clients. Stull's experience prior to ManpowerGroup includes strategic, financial, technology and large-scale implementation expertise from organizations including Accenture and financial institutions.

"Michael has been instrumental in helping to drive a digital transformation in North America," said Darryl Green, President and Chief Operating Officer, ManpowerGroup. "His drive to develop the digital experience that enables a higher value relationship with candidates, clients and associates, will create an even more effective ManpowerGroup. I am excited about Michael bringing his passion to lead the Manpower brand into the future in North America."

"Helping people become more employable, develop relevant skills and build careers while connecting business with right-skilled talent has never been more important," said Stull. "This industry and the world of work is changing faster than we've seen in our almost seventy year history, and I'm looking forward to leading the talented Manpower team that can make a difference to thousands of people's lives."
