

Fresh Start: Top Five Cities People Are Moving To

LOS ANGELES, Apr 17, 2007 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Ready for a fresh start and a change of scenery? People pick up and move to new cities every day but do you know what cities they're moving to the most? Move, Inc., the media leader in connecting consumers with the when, where and how to move, shares the trend of the top five cities people are moving to across the nation. According to Moving.com, part of the Move Network, the five cities in order of popularity are Chicago, Houston, Austin, Los Angeles and Atlanta. This week's Trend Spot, <http://trends.move.com>, focuses on those cities and a starter home that's available in each.

Affordable in the Windy City: Just outside of Chicago, IL, a large city where home prices are still reasonable, this Cape Cod-styled starter home has plenty of personality and functionality to boot. With features like three bedrooms, two bathrooms, oak floors, dining room, and pool this $219,900 home is a find. <http://homes.realtor.com/prop/1078744165>

Master's Domain: With a master suite featuring a whirlpool tub, a separate shower, and double sinks, this Houston, TX home is the perfect fit for those wanting to move to a new city. Houston is one of the top job-generating markets in the country. The $215,000 home boasts five bedrooms, four bathrooms, a game room, slate floors, high ceilings, a fireplace, Energy Star® appliances, a kitchen with center island, a water softener and purification system, and a two-car garage. <http://homes.realtor.com/prop/1077738912>

Entertainer's Dream: Families who like to entertain guests will love this three-bedroom, 2.5-bathroom home in Austin, TX. Austin boasts relatively low taxes, which certainly is a reason to have friends over to celebrate. With features like a kitchen with breakfast bar and center island, a dining room, a game room, and a covered patio, a family can make sure all guests are having a good time in this $192,500 home. <http://homes.realtor.com/prop/1078149256>

Retro Charm: This Los Angeles, CA home features a complete retro kitchen and a detached wooden workshop. The lush backyard is a plus in a city where sun and warm weather are a standard. The $527,000 home also has three bedrooms including a large master suite, two bathrooms, hardwood floors, custom tile and is walking distance from the local elementary school and shops. <http://homes.realtor.com/prop/1074030918#Detail>

Down-Home Comfort: The growing city of Atlanta, GA is known for its high construction rate, so join in on the boom. Bungalow-style, two fireplaces, hardwood floors, and a front porch make this $169,000 home the epitome of down-home comfort and charm. Other features include four bedrooms, two bathrooms, dishwasher, dining room and central air conditioning. <http://homes.realtor.com/prop/1075944964>
