Chase Launches Voting for the 2012 American Giving Awards

NEW YORK, November 28, 2012 - Chase recently launched the opening of the voting period for the 2012 American Giving Awards (AGAs). Fans of Chase Community Giving can cast their vote for their favorite participating charity on Facebook, and Chase online customers can also vote on www.chase.com/chasegiving during the voting period, which runs until December 4.

Chase will grant a total of $2 million to the five charities with the most votes in their respective categories. Of the five top vote-getters from each category, the charity with the most votes will receive a $1 million grant, the runner-up will be granted $500,000, a third organization will receive a $250,000 grant and two will be given $125,000 grants.

The voting results will be revealed during a star-studded event hosted by Joel McHale (NBC's "Community" and "The Soup") on NBC December 8, Saturday 8/7c from the Pasadena Civic Auditorium in Pasadena, CA.

The twenty-five participating charities will represent one of five categories recognizing the "building blocks" of communities. The nominees are:

About Chase Community Giving

Chase Community Giving leverages the power of social media to decide how some of Chase's charitable dollars are allocated. This program was developed by Chase to complement its charitable giving, which totals over $150 million annually. Chase Community Giving relies on its more than 3.8 million fans on Facebook and customers to help decide which local nonprofits receive grants. Since its inception in 2009, Chase Community Giving has helped direct over $28 million to thousands of charities across the country representing causes such as building schools in Africa, providing food and shelter to the homeless, and supporting the performing arts.
