PRA Group Agrees to Settle with IRS

NORFOLK, Va., May 15, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- PRA Group, Inc. (Nasdaq:PRAA), a global leader in acquiring and collecting nonperforming loans, has reached a settlement with the Internal Revenue Service in regards to the Notices of Deficiency for tax years ended December 31, 2005 to December 31, 2012. Under the agreement, which remains subject to court approval, PRA Group will utilize a new tax methodology to recognize net finance receivable (NFR) revenue effective tax year 2017. The Company will not be required to pay any interest or penalties related to the prior periods. Deferred, taxable NFR revenue related to the difference in timing under the new method will be incorporated evenly into the Company's tax filings over four years with no associated interest.

"This settlement ends a long outstanding tax controversy and puts this matter behind us. Additionally, the new methodology is consistent with an approach we have been supportive of for years," said Kevin Stevenson, president and chief administrative officer for PRA Group. "This settlement should have no direct impact on reported earnings since we are not required to pay interest or penalties related to prior periods. This controversy has always been simply a matter of tax payment timing, not of ultimate tax payment or tax accrual for financial statement purposes. Additionally, we do not expect this to have any material impact on our ability to purchase nonperforming loans."
