Resources Global Reaffirms its Commitment to Detroit: Holds Global Conference at Renaissance Center

DETROIT, MI, May 20, 2011 - Resources Global Professionals (Nasdaq: RECN), a leading multinational provider of professional services, is holding this year's global conference in Detroit's Renaissance Center. The conference will be attended by more than 500 of the company's senior professionals who work with clients around the globe.

"We decided to hold this year's global conference in Detroit as a way for us to demonstrate our continuing commitment to this community," said Resources Global founder and CEO Don Murray. "We have had a significant presence in Detroit for the past 12 years, serving a number of clients, including the 'Big Three' automakers, in a variety of assignments. We believe that Detroit is clearly on the road to recovery, and we intend to do our part in contributing to the city's economic, cultural and philanthropic revitalization."

The three-day conference will allow the participants to focus on teamwork, philanthropic development and positive influences both locally and around the world. It is intended to highlight personal and professional development by sharing success stories and communication strategies as well as team building.

This year's conference also features a team-building event that focuses on giving back to the local community on Tuesday, May 24th at 1:30 p.m. In addition to a full schedule of high-level breakout and strategic-planning sessions, a client panel discussion takes place on Wednesday, May 25th with key Fortune 50 C-Level financial and operations executives. The meeting is launched at 1:00 p.m. on Monday, May 23rd with a keynote address by Quentin Hardy, Forbes national editor.

"There is a lot of positive energy in this community and we are leveraging every chance to showcase this new spirit to our professionals and clients who are joining us at this conference," Mr. Murray added.
