

Digital Media Disclosure

Investors, media, and other interested parties should note that Regeneron uses this media and investor relations website (<http://newsroom.regeneron.com>) and its social media channels to publish important information about the Company, including information that may be deemed material to investors. Regeneron encourages investors, media and other interested parties to review the information Regeneron may publish through this media and investor relations website and the social media channel(s) described below, in addition to the Company's SEC filings, press releases, conference calls and webcasts. This list may be updated from time to time.

- Twitter (<http://twitter.com/regeneron>)