Animal Intuition will launch in early spring 2007 on SIRIUS Stars, channel 102. Sonya Fitzpatrick will help pet lovers understand and connect with their pets-both living and passed on. Sonya, the former host of the Animal Planet program "Pet Psychic," is popular with animal lovers everywhere whether they are skeptics or believers. A lifetime animal advocate, Sonya has the extraordinary ability to communicate with animals and to teach people how to see things from the pet's point of view.

On Animal Intuition Sonya will invite questions from listeners about any pet, from the usual household menagerie of cats, dogs, and birds to horses, pigs, iguanas, llamas, camels, and more. Guests will be a part of every show, from experts such as vets and animal shelter workers to celebrities that love pets.

Sonya will use her special telepathic gifts and healing talents to counsel pet owners on resolving common behavioral problems such as scratching, chewing, soiling, barking, and more. She will also offer her expert advice on practical issues such as nutrition and diet, illness, moving homes, emergency preparedness, the importance of using natural products and creating awareness of chemicals around the house that are harmful to animals, and how to design a pet friendly and still beautiful home.

"Millions of pet owners will gain from Sonya's insights and extraordinary ability to enrich and enhance the relationship between pet and pet owner," said Scott Greenstein, President, Entertainment and Sports, SIRIUS Satellite Radio.

"After working with humans and pets through my books and television show, satellite radio is the next evolutionary step in my work," said Fitzpatrick. "I am delighted by the opportunity on SIRIUS Satellite Radio to counsel people on how to become better companions to their special animal friends."
