

SIRIUS Satellite Radio to Air Spanish Language Broadcasts of 2005-06 NFL Games

Broadcasts include all Monday Night Football Games, the playoffs and Super Bowl

NEW YORK, Sept 06, 2005 /PRNewswire-FirstCall via COMTEX/ -- SIRIUS Satellite Radio -- the nation's premier provider of live professional and collegiate sports events and sports talk on satellite radio and the official satellite radio partner of the National Football League -- announced today it will air Spanish language broadcasts of NFL games for the 2005-06 NFL season, including Monday Night Football, the playoffs and the Super Bowl.

SIRIUS will carry NFL Futbol Americano, CBS Radio Sports/Westwood One's Spanish language package of NFL games. The 31-game broadcast schedule includes the 2005 season opener on Thursday, September 8th, all Monday Night Football games, Thanksgiving Day games, the NFL Playoffs, the AFC and NFC Championships and Super Bowl XL on February 5, 2006. The Spanish language broadcasts -- which feature commentators Armando Quintero, Benny Ricardo and Clemson Smith Muniz -- will air on SIRIUS Hispanic Talk, channel 181.

Included in this year's schedule is the special October 2, Sunday night game that will be played at Estadio Azteca in Mexico City where the San Francisco 49ers will meet the Arizona Cardinals in the first regular season game in league history played outside the United States.

"The addition of NFL Futbol Americano illustrates our continuing efforts to reach out to every NFL fan," said Steve Cohen, SIRIUS' Vice President of Sports Programming. "Now our Spanish-speaking listeners can enjoy live NFL games in addition to our Latin music channels and SIRIUS en Espanol talk programming."
