"Safety is the most important, most integral part of our business and is the driving force behind everything we do as a company," stated Patrick Vaughan, Student Transportation Inc.'s Chief Operating Officer. "These fifteen inductees represent the best of the best of our 14,000 employees and it is a privilege to recognize them for their safety accomplishments. They embrace, as all our folks do, our safety culture and these individuals enhance it by the way they carry themselves and perform their jobs. The Wall of Fame is another way for us to recognize and celebrate these special members of our STI Family."

The Wall of Fame awards dinner and ceremony was held on November 29th, in Charleston, South Carolina. The 2016 Class of inductees were each greeted by the company's entire Senior Leadership team, and received gifts and personalized awards at the ceremony. The recipients were also treated to two days off including sight-seeing and other festivities while in the historic city.

Inductees were chosen through an extensive selection process by local managers spanning over six months at STI's more than 170 locations across the United States and Canada. Some of the criteria for this safety-based recognition included exemplary safety practices within their role, accident-free service, community involvement, reliability and knowledge of company policies and procedures, perfect attendance, good character and attitude, and exceptional performance within their role.
