On March 16, 2017, due to unusually high volume of trading in the Company's stock, the Company contacted the OTC Markets, which informed the Company that it had become aware of certain promotional activities concerning the Company and its common stock. Specifically, OTC Markets had been made aware of promotional newsletters touting the Company and encouraging investors to purchase the Company's common stock.

Until this disclosure from OTC Markets, the Company was unaware of the existence of the most recent promotional newsletters and their effect on the trading activity. In addition to the promotional newsletters received last month, the Company has since received from OTC Markets samples of three promotional newsletters, which were sent from Monster Alerts and from ProTrader on March 16 and 17, 2017, but the Company is otherwise unaware of the existence of additional promotional newsletters, if any, and any related promotional activity, the parties responsible for the production of the newsletters and the extent of any of the email newsletters' dissemination.

"As was the case last month when similar promotional activity occurred, the Company is not aware of the promotional materials' author or its affiliated entities or persons, and has not engaged directly or indirectly in any promotional activities nor retained any parties to engage in any promotional activities on behalf of the Company," stated Anthony Angelini, President and Chief Executive Officer of TSS. "The Company encourages those interested in the Company to rely solely on information included in its press releases combined with its filings and disclosures made with the Securities and Exchange Commission (available on the SEC's website). Forward-Looking Statements

This press release contains "forward-looking statements" -- that is, statements related to future -- not past -- events, plans, and prospects. In this context, forward-looking statements may address matters such as our expected future business and financial performance, and often contain words such as "guidance," "prospects," "expects," "anticipates," "intends," "plans," "believes," "seeks," "should," or "will." Forward-looking statements by their nature address matters that are, to different degrees, uncertain. Particular uncertainties that could adversely or positively affect the Company's future results include: our independent registered public accounting firm's reports on our 2014 and 2015 financial statements contain an explanatory paragraph that expresses substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern; we may not have sufficient resources to fund our business and may need to issue debt or equity to obtain additional funding; our reliance on a significant portion of our revenues from a limited number of customers; risks relating to operating in a highly competitive industry; risks relating to the failure to maintain effective internal control over financial reporting; risks relating to rapid technological, structural, and competitive changes affecting the industries we serve; risks involved in properly managing complex projects; risks relating to the possible cancellation of customer contracts on short notice; risks relating to our ability to continue to implement our strategy, including having sufficient financial resources to carry out that strategy; risks relating to our ability to meet all of the terms and conditions of our debt obligations; uncertainty related to current economic conditions and the related impact on demand for our services; and other risks and uncertainties disclosed in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2015. These uncertainties may cause our actual future results to be materially different than those expressed in our forward-looking statements. We do not undertake to update our forward-looking statements.
