As previously reported, the Company was notified by Nasdaq on December 14, 2016, that it no longer satisfied the minimum bid price requirement for continued listing of $1.00 per share. In anticipation of not meeting the minimum bid price requirement by June 12, 2017, the end of its initial 180-day grace period, the Company applied to transfer the listing of its common stock to the Nasdaq Capital Market. The Company is now being afforded an additional 180-day grace period, or until December 11, 2017, to regain compliance with the Nasdaq's minimum bid price requirement. In order to regain compliance, the minimum bid price per share of the Company's common stock must be at least $1.00 for at least ten consecutive business days during the additional 180-day grace period. If the Company fails to regain compliance during this grace period, the Company's common stock will be subject to delisting by Nasdaq. The Company has provided written notice of its intention to cure the minimum bid price deficiency during the second grace period by effecting a reverse stock split if necessary.
