Submissions. When a submission is made to the Whistleblower Hotline, an access code is provided to the submitting party for obtaining updates. An e-mail notification will automatically be sent to the Internal Auditing Manager and the General Counsel, as well as to the members of the Board of Directors’ Audit Committee.

Committee Investigation. For each Hotline submission, the Company will conduct an investigation. A standing review committee, including the General Counsel and Internal Auditing Manager, will determine the appropriate investigation actions based on the nature of each submission. The committee will meet and report to the Audit Committee as needed, based on pending submissions and activity.

Note: Any particular member of the committee can be excluded from an investigation, and other personnel can be included, if necessary to ensure an independent and unbiased review, particularly in relation to any reports of accounting or financial misconduct.

Actions and Resolution. During any investigation, the General Counsel and Internal Auditing Manager are responsible for seeking input from and providing updates to the Audit Committee. All members of the Audit Committee have access to the Whistleblower Hotline website. As such, they have full visibility into the nature and status of all submissions and can access this information at any time. The Audit Committee will provide direction on issues as appropriate, at the discretion of the Chairperson. Updates will be provided to the submitting party via the access code. The General Counsel will maintain a log and file of Whistleblower investigations and will ensure that adequate documentation is kept to demonstrate proper investigation and handling.
