Employee FAQ

Why is this good for VCA and the clients and pets we serve?
Mars and Mars Petcare are ideal partners for us and we are excited that VCA will be part of this iconic, family-owned organization. They bring the same commitment to the veterinary industry and the same focus on building “A Better World for Pets” as VCA does. Joining with Mars Petcare will provide us with not only additional resources, but also a depth of knowledge in the pet care industry around the world, as we continue to grow and evolve in the future. We believe the combination will provide our veterinarians with expanded training and all of our employees with enhanced career development opportunities.

Will VCA remain a separate company and continue to operate under the same brands?
Yes, upon completion, expected in the third quarter of 2017, VCA will operate as a distinct and separate business unit within Mars Petcare. VCA will continue to operate under the brand name VCA, as well as under the ANTECH® Diagnostics, Sound®, and Camp Bow Wow® brands. Mars has a history of supporting brands and places a high value on the brands VCA has created.

Will our existing management/leadership remain?
Yes and our entire management team is excited about the future of VCA. Following the closing, Bob and Art Antin, Tom Fuller, Neil Tauber, Todd Tams, Doug Drew, Stefan Horsky, Josh Drake, Tom Jacobi, and Christina Russell, are expected to remain with the organization, as are the other members of our Corporate Support Office in Los Angeles. Current field leadership at our hospitals and across our other divisions will also remain the same.

Will our support offices remain in their current locations?
Yes, our various support offices will remain in their current locations. As mentioned above, VCA will operate as a separate business unit within Mars Petcare, so our support offices will be necessary for us to do that.

Will VCA be managed the same as it has been in the past?
We will continue to operate as a distinct and separate business unit within Mars Petcare in a way that maintains our highly focused commitment to our clients, their pets, the referral veterinary community and our employees.

Will VCA be able to maintain the same commitment to medical quality that is the cornerstone of our company?
Yes, VCA has always supported the autonomy that veterinarians need in order to make the best decisions for our clients and their pets. This will continue to be a cornerstone of what makes VCA a great place to work for veterinarians and the entire veterinary team.

Will our unique culture continue?
Yes. Our culture and people are the reason for VCA’s success. Our great organization already embodies many of the core values critical to the success of Mars Petcare, making us a natural cultural fit. Both Mars Petcare and VCA have been created by pet-loving families that put pets at the heart of their business.
Will my pay and benefits remain the same?
Yes, your pay and benefits will remain the same, although, consistent with past practice, there may be changes to both on an annual basis and as we continue to periodically review and update our rewards programs. Your tenure and seniority with VCA, as well as any accrued paid time off, will be maintained.

Will VCA continue to value its people the same way it has done in the past?
Yes, our most valuable assets are our people, and we have always tried hard to make sure VCA was a large, extended family. We value each and every one of our employees. Mars also believes that our employees are critical to the ongoing success of its business and its aim of being recognized as the finest community of companion animal healthcare service providers in the United States and Canada.

Will my “work life” in the company remain the same?
Yes. Your life in the company will remain unchanged as a result of this transaction. You will continue treating pets and providing excellent care and service to our customers and clients. As a company, we have always evolved to improve what we do and that will continue.
