Commentary on sales growth and store openings:

Sales growth - The value of the Canadian dollar relative to the US dollar dropped dramatically during the Fall of 2008 and has partially recovered in 2009. In October 2009 and 2008, the average exchange rate was 0.9300 and 0.8762, respectively. This relative change raised our daily sales growth rate by 0.3% in October 2009. Store openings - During our earnings conference call in January 2009 we discussed our limited visibility on sales trends and our thoughts on store openings. Our stated goal is to open 7% to 10% new stores each year; however, we have slowed our store openings to a rate of approximately 2% to 5% for 2009.
